Sage

Shrub

Sun

Moderate water

Origin: California

This low-growing Sage is a showy plant for a bank cover or the front of a bed. Gray foliage reaches 2 feet tall and spreads 6-8 feet, forming a broad mound. Spring brings lavender blue flowers that attract many pollinators and hummingbirds. Best in full sun with little water once established, 'Bee's Bliss' is a wonderful low perennial for a hot sunny bed. Prefers well-drained soil.

This Salvia is one of many hybrids between Cleveland Sage and Purple Sage. The result is the robust character of Purple Sage with the bright blue and purple flowers of Cleveland Sage. Cut back in the fall to refresh the foliage.
